Why attend

Many recent disruptions have originated not within organisations but at suppliers, logistics providers, cloud services and outsourced partners. This course shows how to extend business continuity management across the extended enterprise. Participants learn to identify critical third parties, assess their resilience, build continuity requirements into contracts, develop alternative sourcing and workaround strategies and conduct joint exercises. The course combines continuity standards with practical supply chain and outsourcing tools.

Your organisation's resilience is only as strong as the weakest critical supplier or service provider. This course helps you identify and reduce third-party dependencies and make sure partners can support you when disruption occurs.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

The course includes dependency mapping exercises, supplier resilience assessments, contract clause reviews, scenario workshops and a third-party continuity tabletop exercise.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:
• Explain the role of third parties in operational resilience
• Identify critical suppliers, service providers and dependencies
• Assess third-party continuity capabilities
• Build continuity requirements into contracts and service levels
• Develop alternative sourcing and workaround strategies
• Exercise and monitor third-party continuity arrangements

Target audience

This course is suitable for:
• Business continuity managers
• Procurement and supplier management professionals
• Supply chain and logistics managers
• Outsourcing and vendor managers
• Risk and compliance professionals
