Why attend

Tools alone do not create lasting improvement; culture does. This course explores how to build a continuous improvement culture: leadership behaviours, psychological safety, engaging employees in problem solving, coaching routines, recognising improvement, learning from failure and measuring cultural progress.

Many organisations train in lean and Six Sigma but see little lasting change. You will learn to build the culture that makes improvement stick.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

- Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
- Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
- Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Culture assessments, leadership behaviour workshops, coaching practice and case studies.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Explain elements of an improvement culture
- Assess current improvement culture
- Model leadership behaviours that support improvement
- Engage employees in daily problem solving
- Use coaching routines to build capability
- Recognise and sustain improvement

Target audience

This course is suitable for:

- Senior leaders and managers
- Continuous improvement leaders
- HR and culture professionals
- Team leaders
- Operational excellence staff

Course content

Target competencies

Participants will develop competencies in:

- Culture assessment
