Why attend

A serious cyber incident such as ransomware, data theft or system compromise quickly becomes a business crisis affecting operations, customers, regulators and reputation. This course prepares managers and technical leaders to respond in a coordinated way. Participants learn incident response planning, roles and decision-making, technical containment priorities, legal and regulatory notifications, crisis communication, recovery and post-incident learning. A realistic ransomware simulation brings together technical, business and communication perspectives.

Organisations that rehearse their response recover faster and suffer less damage. This course helps you build and test an incident response capability that connects IT security teams with executives, legal, communications and business continuity functions.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Learning is highly interactive, with incident response frameworks, playbook development, a multi-stage ransomware tabletop exercise, communication role plays and lessons-learned workshops. No advanced technical knowledge is required.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:
• Explain the cyber threat landscape and common incident types
• Develop and maintain an incident response plan and playbooks
• Coordinate technical, business and executive decision-making
• Manage regulatory, legal and contractual notifications
• Communicate effectively with staff, customers, media and authorities
• Lead recovery and post-incident improvement

Course content
