Why attend

Hybrid work depends on digital tools for communication, collaboration and knowledge sharing, but tool overload and poor adoption often reduce productivity. This course helps managers and IT leaders design an effective digital workplace: choosing tools, setting team agreements, organising information, securing data and driving adoption.

The right tools used the wrong way create noise and burnout. You will learn how to build a digital workplace that helps people focus and collaborate.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Tool walkthroughs, team charter workshops, information architecture exercises and adoption campaign planning.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:
• Define digital workplace goals and principles
• Select and integrate collaboration tools
• Create team agreements for hybrid collaboration
• Organise information and knowledge sharing
• Manage security and compliance in collaboration tools
• Drive adoption and measure productivity

Target audience

This course is suitable for:
• IT and digital workplace managers
• HR and internal communication professionals
• Team leaders of hybrid teams
• Knowledge management professionals
• Office and facilities managers

Course content

Target competencies

Participants will develop competencies in:

- Collaboration design
- Change adoption
- Information management
- Team leadership
- Tool governance
