Why attend

Effective communication starts with understanding audiences. This course covers mass communication theories, audience research methods, surveys and polling, focus groups, media consumption analysis, segmentation, using research to plan communication and interpreting research responsibly.

Communication based on assumptions often misses its audience. You will learn to ground communication in research.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

- Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
- Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
- Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Theory discussions, survey design, focus group practice, data analysis and case studies.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Explain key mass communication theories
- Select appropriate audience research methods
