Why attend

Process mining uses the event data already stored in business systems to show how processes really run, rather than how people think they run. This course introduces process mining concepts and tools and shows how to discover process flows, measure conformance, identify bottlenecks and rework, and prioritise improvements and automation. Participants work with sample event logs, interpret process maps and build an improvement case, combining process mining with lean and continuous improvement methods.

Traditional process mapping relies on workshops and interviews, which often miss hidden delays and variations. Process mining provides objective, data-driven insight into processes such as purchase-to-pay, order-to-cash and customer service. This course gives you the skills to use these insights to deliver measurable improvements.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

The course combines practical demonstrations with hands-on labs using event logs, process analysis workshops, case studies from finance, procurement and operations, and development of an improvement proposal.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:
• Explain the principles and benefits of process mining
• Identify and prepare event log data from business systems
• Discover and interpret process maps and variants
• Analyse conformance, bottlenecks and rework
• Combine process mining with lean and automation initiatives
• Build and present a data-driven process improvement case

Course content

Target audience

This course is suitable for:
• Process improvement and operational excellence professionals
• Business analysts
• Finance, procurement and shared services managers
• Quality managers
• Digital transformation professionals

Target competencies

Participants will develop competencies in:
• Process discovery
• Event log preparation
• Conformance analysis
• Bottleneck analysis
• Lean process improvement
• Data-driven improvement cases
