Why attend

Public bodies must use public money and power responsibly and transparently. This course covers public sector governance: legal and constitutional frameworks, roles of ministers, boards and accounting officers, financial accountability, performance reporting, transparency and freedom of information, audit and oversight, and ethics in public office.

Public trust depends on visible accountability. You will learn governance practices that strengthen public institutions.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

- Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
- Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
- Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Public sector case studies, accountability mapping exercises, oversight simulations and peer discussion.
