Why attend

Procurement decisions shape an organisation's environmental and social footprint. This course shows procurement and supply chain professionals how to embed sustainability into sourcing strategies, specifications, supplier selection and contract management. Participants explore international standards, human rights and due diligence requirements, life-cycle costing, circular procurement and supplier sustainability assessment. The course combines practical tools with case studies so that participants can make sustainable procurement decisions that also deliver commercial value.

Sustainability requirements are now part of tenders, customer audits and regulatory due diligence. This course helps you integrate environmental, social and ethical criteria into procurement in a practical and commercially sound way, protecting your organisation from supply chain risks and reputational damage.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

The course uses expert input, case studies, life-cycle costing exercises, supplier assessment workshops, contract clause reviews and group development of a sustainable procurement policy.

Course objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:
• Explain the principles and standards of sustainable procurement
• Integrate sustainability into category strategies and specifications
• Assess supplier environmental, social and governance performance
• Apply life-cycle costing and circular procurement approaches
• Manage human rights and supply chain due diligence obligations
• Develop a sustainable procurement policy and action plan
